

Special Properties introduces Christina Gibbons Group

Christina Gibbons, a Realtor Associate with Special Properties Real Estate Services, has formed the Christina Gibbons Group to better serve the real estate needs of home sellers and buyers in Ridgewood and the surrounding towns in Bergen County. Special Properties is an affiliate of Christie's International Real Estate.

"I am thrilled to make this investment in the Christina Gibbons Group, bringing our real estate clients the next generation of tech tools and high-quality customer service, and to make the home sale and purchase process as efficient as possible. Ultimately, our goal is to maximize value for those we serve," said Gibbons, who will serve as president of the group.

The success and strong growth of Gibbons' real estate business motivated the need to expand operations, and the team is currently adding administrative support staff and buyer agents, and is investing in new technologies that will provide next-level services to buyers and sellers throughout the area.

"Special Properties and Christie's remains completely committed to high quality customer service, and the expansion of Christina Gibbons' real estate business is a testament to ensuring that each and every client receives the personalized, focused attention that clients expect from our brand," Ilija Pavlovic, president and CEO of Special Properties Real Estate Services.

Gibbons entered the real estate industry in the spring of 2017, following a career in interventional cardiology and active volunteer community service within the Village of Ridgewood, including serving as a board member and then president of the YWCA of Bergen County. The common thread binding her medical career, her volunteer efforts, and now her real estate business is a passion for helping others.
